

Brief for the position of Trustee

Royal Cornwall Polytechnic Society Ltd (The Poly) 2024

The RCPS Ltd (The Poly) is inviting applications to join its Board. We are seeking people with the experience, knowledge and commitment to support our existing work and to ensure our Board represents the diversity of the communities we serve.

We've been encouraging innovation and culture for over 190 years and would like to expand our Board with trustees who can bring experience and fresh ideas to support our manager and staff team as we continue to develop our programme, diversify our audiences and upgrade our building.

We are a registered charity promoting engagement in the arts, sciences and Cornish history through film, live events, exhibitions, lectures and workshops. The Poly's roots are in artistic and technological innovation and local industry.

Based in an iconic Grade II listed building on Falmouth's high street – in the heart of the community – we are the proud guardian of locally, nationally and internationally significant collections of heritage archives and art works by Henry Scott Tuke (1858-1929).

Within Cornwall we are uniquely placed to foster creative connections between heritage, art and science to support innovation, with the possibility of engaging with a wide range of constituents and partnerships, from children and young people, to locally-based HE providers and businesses.

Our Values

- Connecting heritage, art and science
- Supporting innovation
- Community-centred
- Environmentally and socially responsible

Our Vision

To be a place where everyone feels welcome to be entertained, engage with culture, and be creative.

Our Mission

As a key cultural and community hub in Cornwall, to provide inspiring, inclusive and innovative entertainment, learning and development opportunities across the arts, sciences and history.

Governance and Board of Trustees

The work of the organisation is delivered by a small but dedicated staff team, working with a larger group of volunteers, and governed by a Board of Trustees, which provides strategic direction and support to staff. The Board of Trustees meets every two months (currently we hold meetings on a Wednesday at 17:00), and has a number of sub-committees (finance, HR, marketing & fundraising).

To provide effective governance it is important that our Board reflects the range of skills and experience required to support the needs of our small but multi-faceted organisation.

Board members are both directors and trustees of RCPS Ltd, a charitable company limited by guarantee, and they are elected for a three year term. The original Polytechnic Society, which was founded in 1833 and given Royal Patronage in 1835, continues in existence as a subsidiary charity. Trustees of RCPS Ltd are the only members of the subsidiary charity, which retains ownership of the main building, most of the investments and historic assets such as the Tuke Collection which is cared for and housed by agreement at Falmouth Art Gallery.

What are we looking for?

We need Trustees who are passionate about our work and who have experience or knowledge in one or more of the following areas:

- Financial management/Accountancy
- Building or property management
- Fundraising (philanthropy)

If you have no experience of fundraising but would like to take on the role of 'fundraising champion' on the Board, we'd be interested to hear from you. We welcome applications from young people and individuals with diverse backgrounds.

What does it involve?

Being a trustee involves attending and contributing to Board meetings, and by agreement joining a committee or sub-group, being prepared to engage in any follow up work, taking part in an annual business planning process, as well as generally supporting The Poly. Trustees must: Commit to the vision, mission and values of RCPS Ltd, adhere to its code of conduct and the legal duties and responsibilities of the trustee role, contribute their skills and expertise fully to the Board's collective decision-making and be an advocate for RCPS Ltd.

Being a Trustee is a voluntary role, however if necessary your expenses will be covered in order to support specific work on The Poly's behalf. New Trustees will be offered mentoring if appropriate, so while previous experience as a Trustee is desirable it is not essential. Younger Trustees may be offered a one-year appointment if this provides them with greater flexibility, however, the role is not recommended for full-time students.

- Trustees, by law, must be at least 18 years old
- Trustees must be members of the Poly from the point of submitting their nomination
- New trustees can be coopted by the Board, but they are formally elected at our Annual General Meeting on 25th September 2024

How to apply

Please email the following information to Ginny Button, Chair of the Trustees at ginny@thepoly.org: Provide a couple of paragraphs (max. 500 words) explaining how your experience, knowledge and skills might match those we are seeking, and attach a short version of your CV.
